★★★★★

Bimasha was truly awesome. She was quick to respond, even quicker to produce results. She communicates effectively, is always willing to further refine her code. Her code is clean, abstracted, and matches designs better than most developers I've seen. A great asset to any team. Hope to have more work for her in future.

This was my second experience working with Bimasha. When we were looking for a developer to make our website, we thought that we need to find a separate front-end specialist first, and then a separate back-end specialist. Bimasha initially completed the frontend in a short time and with high quality, and it turned out that she will also do the backend. We trusted her for the backend and I am very satisfied with the result. First of all, I want to mention her professional quality, she knows her work well and does it very quickly. Easy to communicate with, available most of the day and pleasant to talk to. I want to emphasize that she is a research programmer, she studies all options and offers a new solution. In short, I am very satisfied with her work and if needed, I will contact her again and recommend her to others.

★★★★★

Wow! Incredibly helpful, I must say, she is a Porsche with no breaks! who went out of her way to help us to provide a quick fix for the issues we were facing in our application code. I would highly recommend getting Bimasha Zaman on your team early if you are looking for some one who is really an expert.
